Text answers:

The creative lessons like building, drawing, creating pieces of work. Also the online games were really good and engaging.

Taken photos off plants in our area .also showing them to her class mate when her teacher posted them for her class to see

Short question and answer.because sometime thy don't like to write and thy can explain the answer in few straight lines.

Maths because he likes to do it

Tyler really enjoyed the maths tasks he especially enjoyed counting money

Phonics and maths

Once I had figured out how to use the classDojos most of the task were okay to follow however getting him to engage with work was hard as frame of mind and change from normal school routine affected him. Could not of got through it without the support given by Miss Patel/Mrs Mckillop/Miss Taylor 🙏🙏

Ocean loved all tasks set sienna liked guided reading levi loved maths and making his story kaeson struggled

Dojo worksheets. Because he didn't need to write on paper

Maths

Mix of paper and electronic tasks

Working to wards daily star

Maths

Computing as it was a game, I needed to remind them there were other lessons haha.

Science because she enjoyed doing the activites and she had a lot of fun

Maths

Colouring

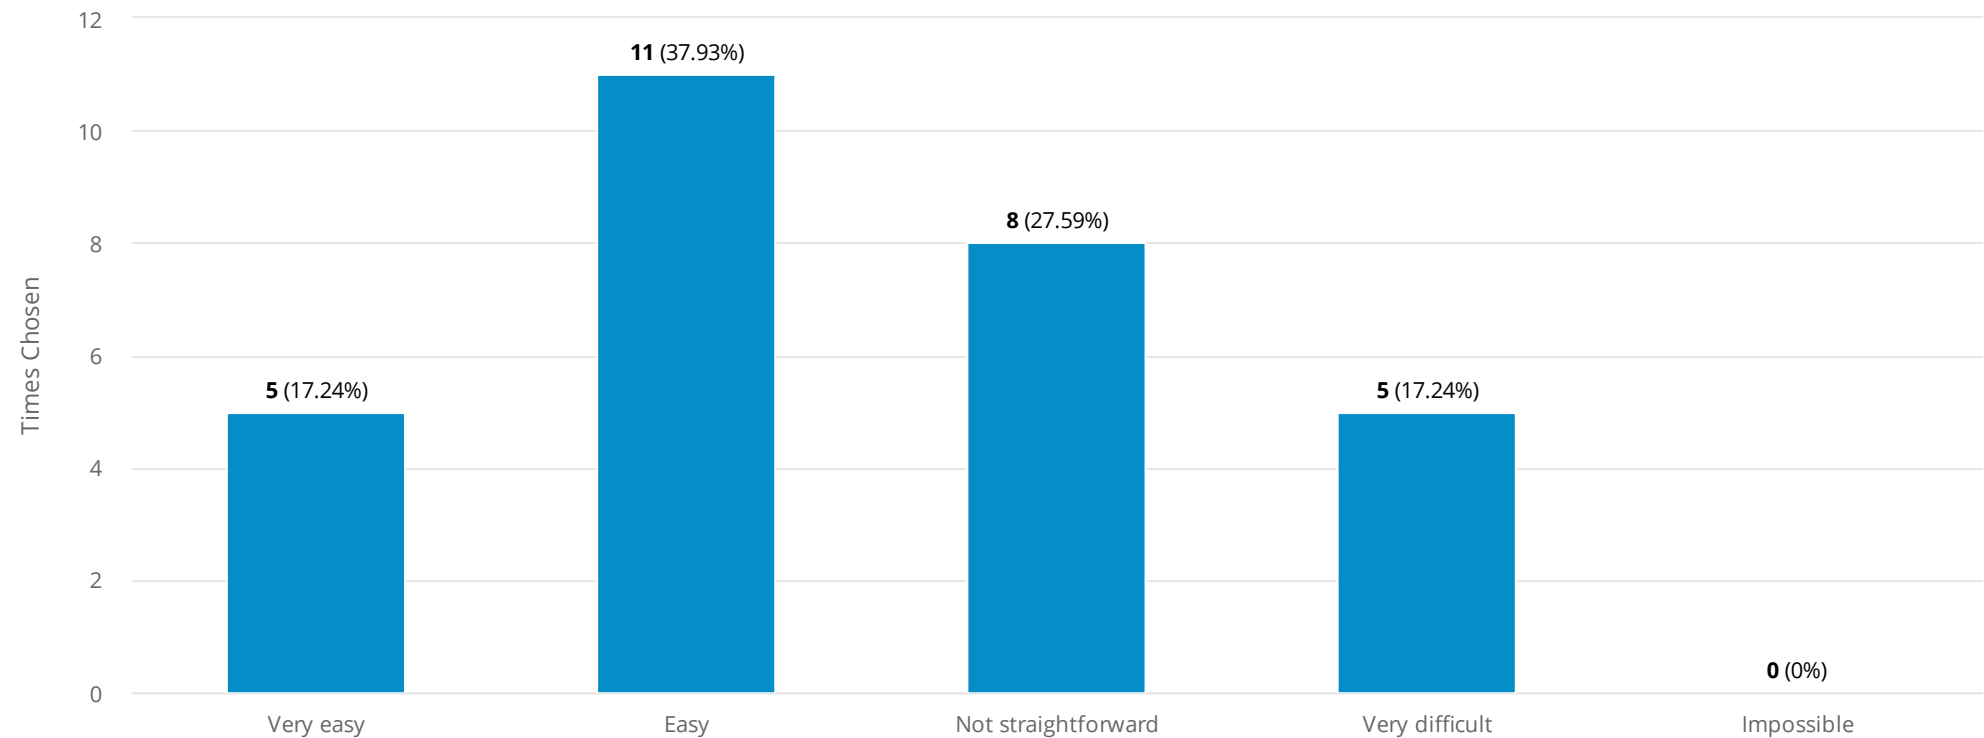

The vidoes and

Most was very good

The one thatbwas remote learning and practical

8. How easy was it for you to provide a suitable working environment for your child for remote/home learning?
Please feel free to add any comments in the box below if you want to.

Text answers:

It was hard at first as I also work all day from home so finding time for that as well as all the home learning was tough. Also finding a suitable place for them to work can do hard as we do not have a dinning table or anything like that to sit and do work at.

Stressed

My home isn't big enough to be able to separate the children which meant they got distracted easily

1. Because I have a baby as well and two she was looking at her tablet a lot for the work which isn't good it's a lot of screen time

Very difficult, maybe a bit more flexibility on the amount of work required daily. It caused a great deal of stress trying to get the basic amount of work done and my full time job.

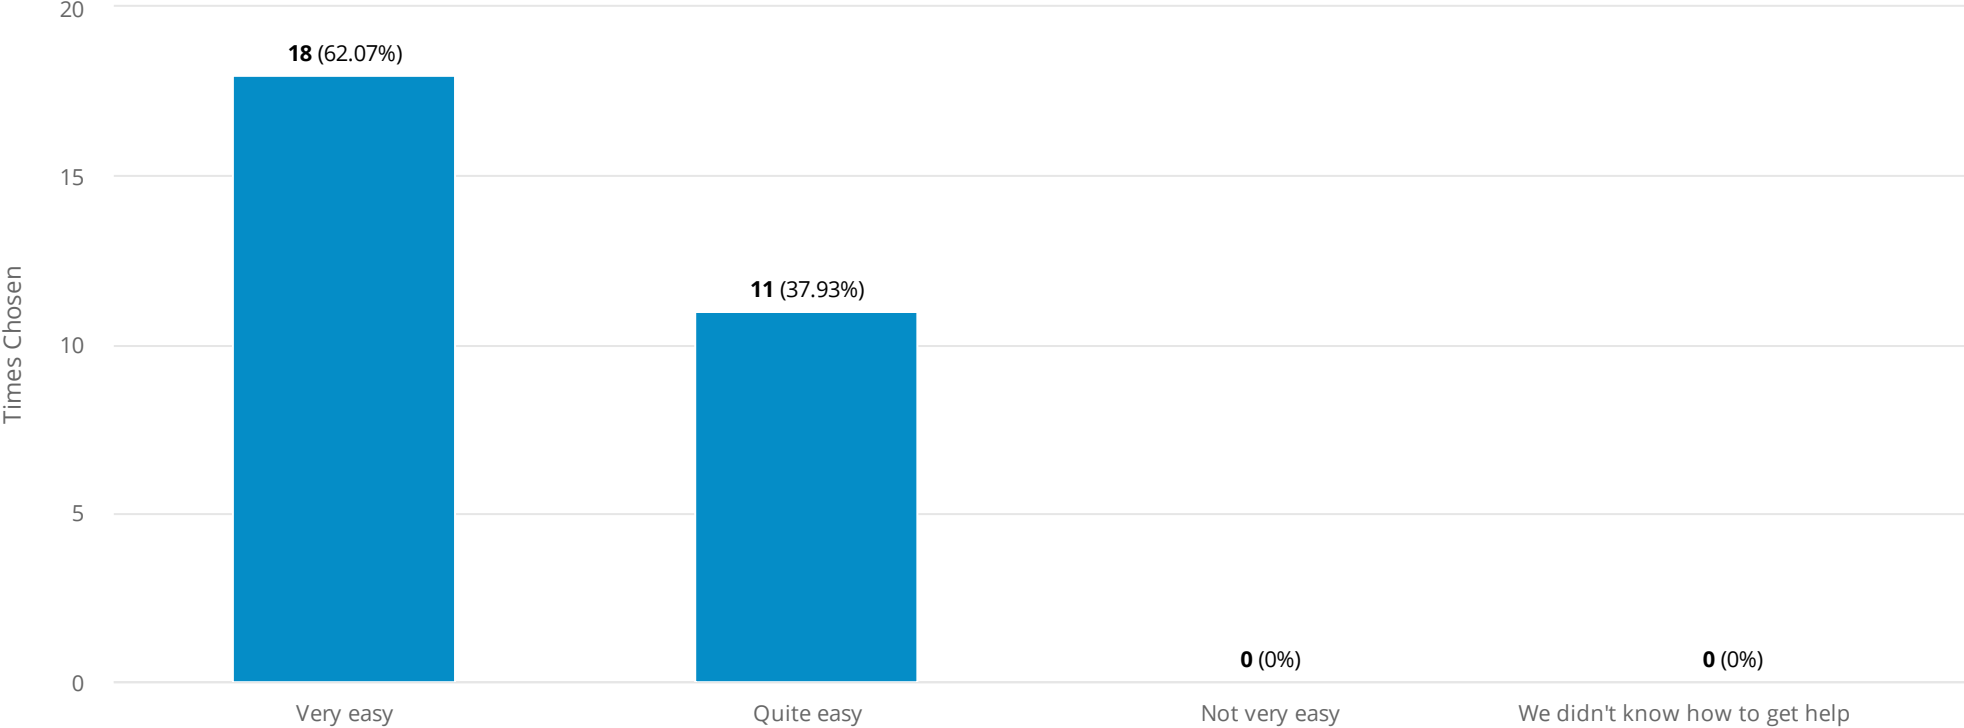

I liked the daily star it encouraged the child to work harder to get the star hard with other children

Due to having younger siblings and house chores I found this very challenging

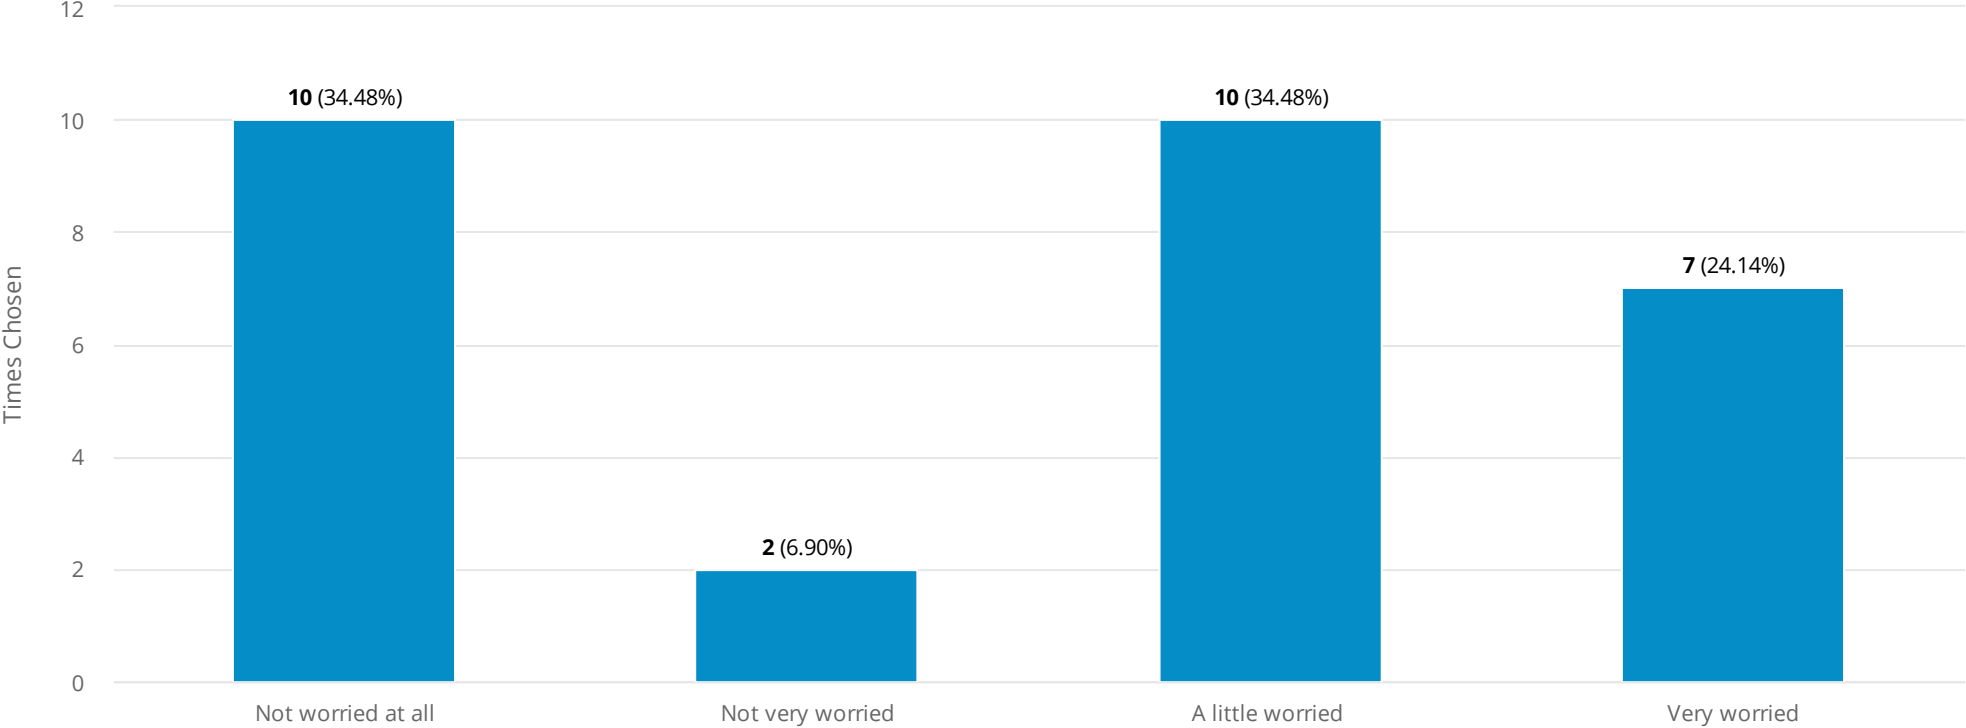

9. How easy was it for you/or your child to get help from school if you had a problem with home learning?

Number of responses: 29

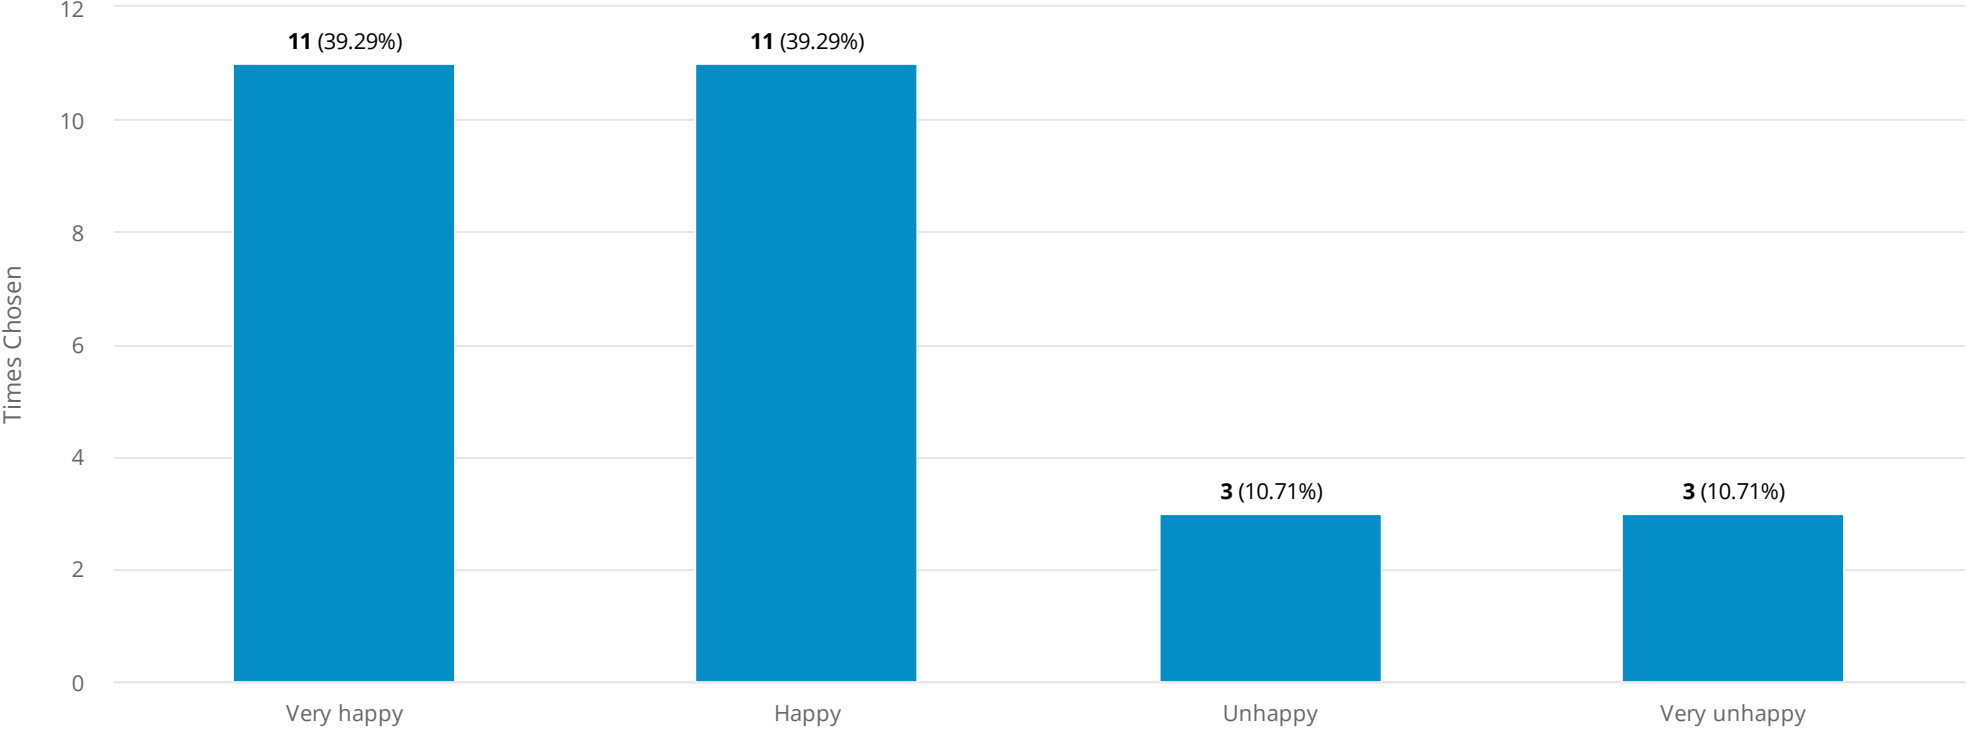

10. Are you worried about your child falling behind with their learning because of the last lockdown?

Number of responses: 29

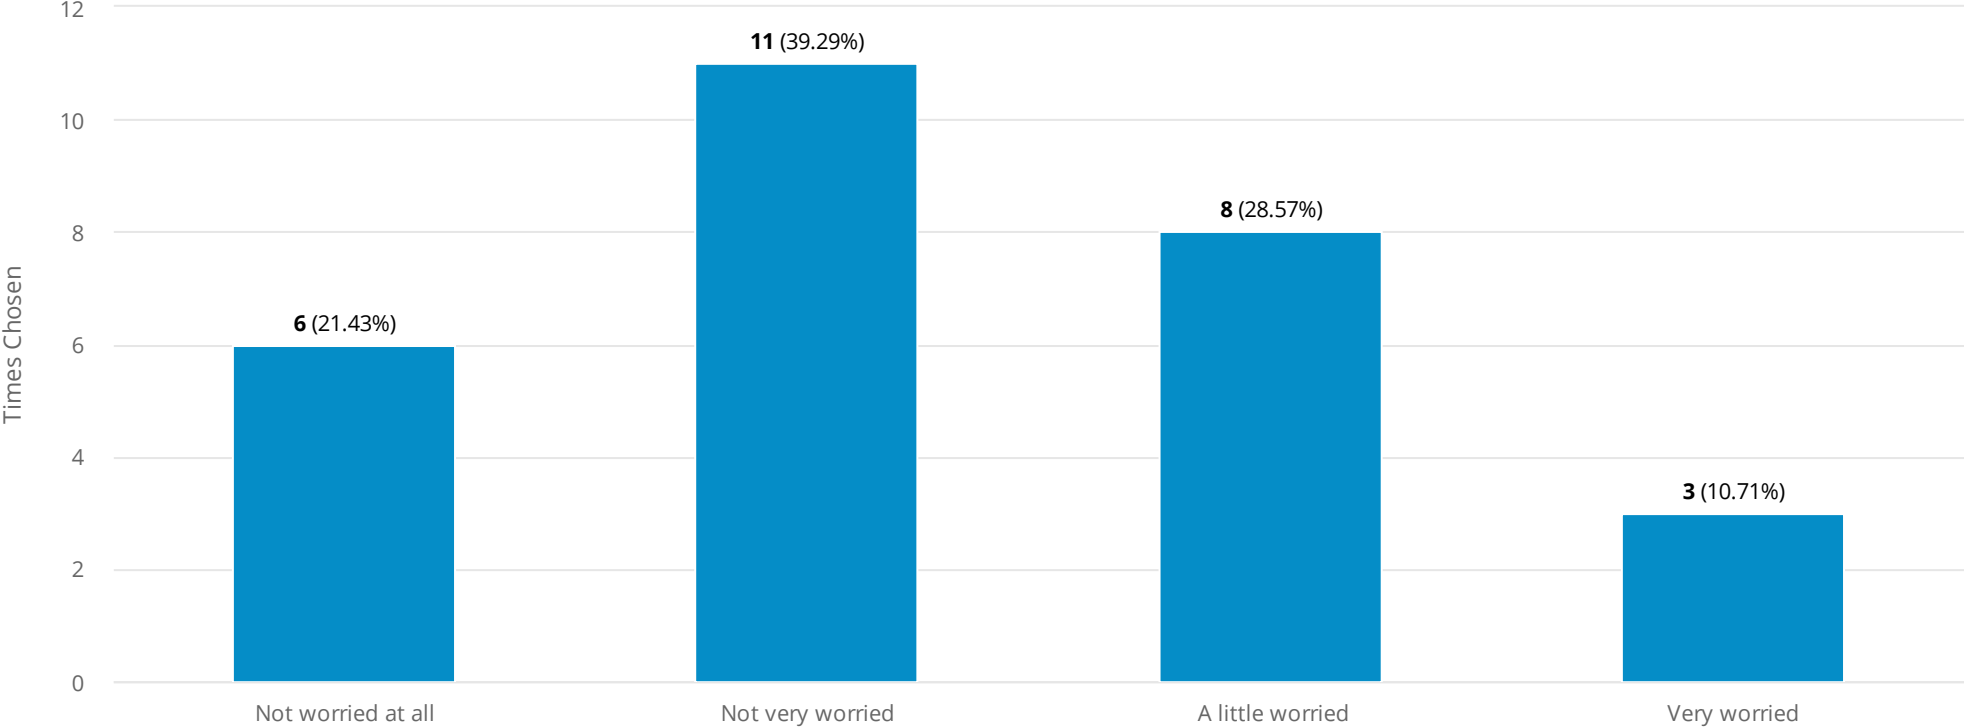

11. Would you be happy for your child to attend extra lessons after school to help them catch up with lost learning?

Number of responses: 28

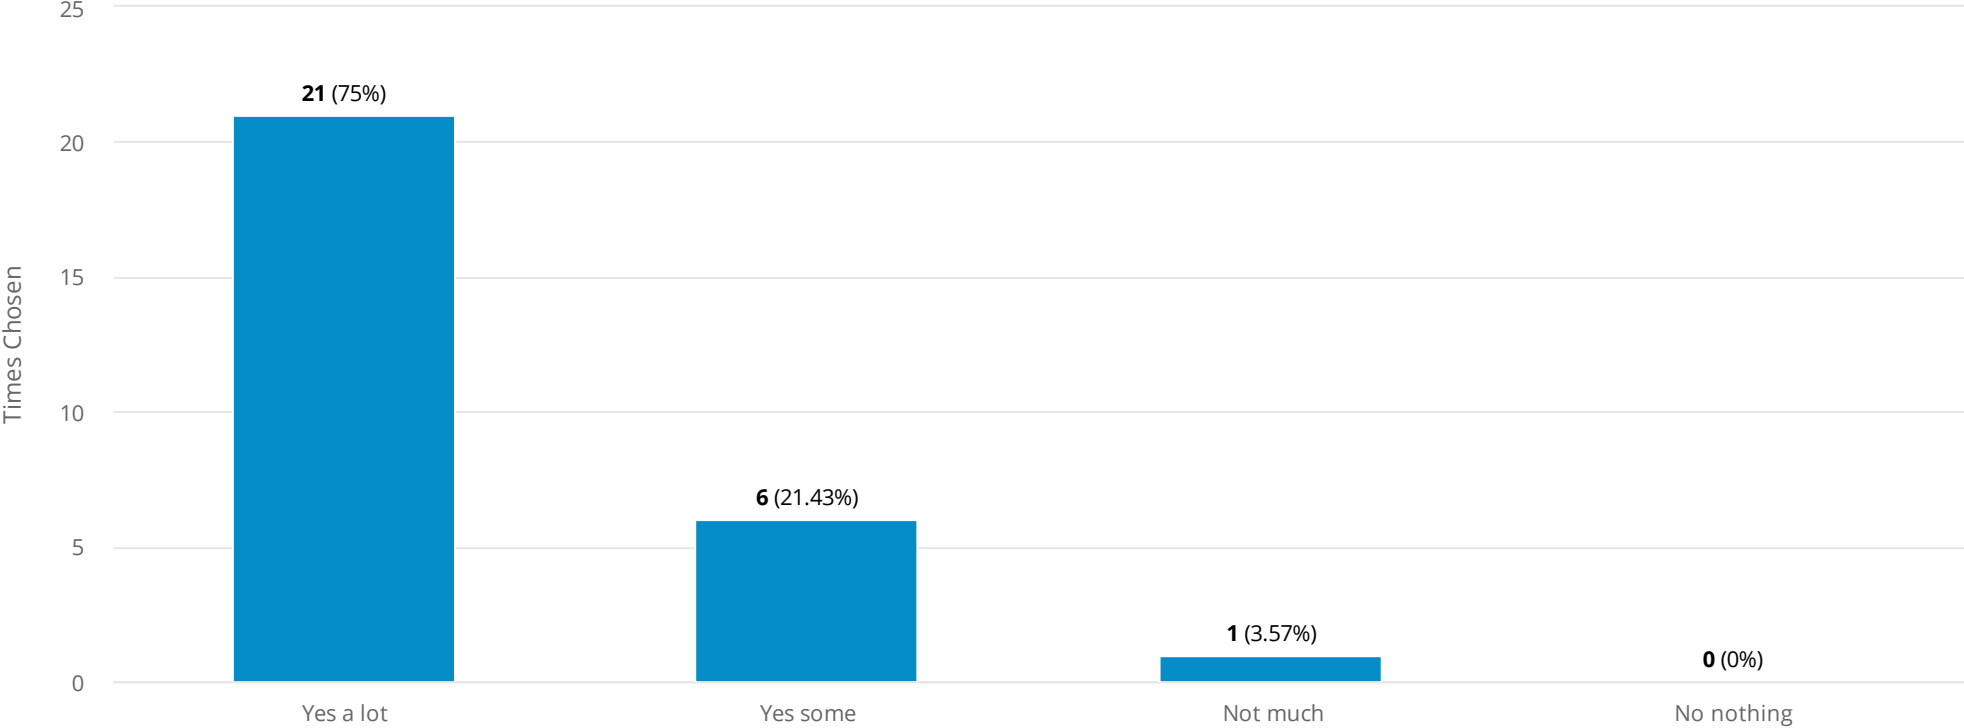

12. Are you worried about your child's wellbeing being affected by the last lockdown?

Number of responses: 28

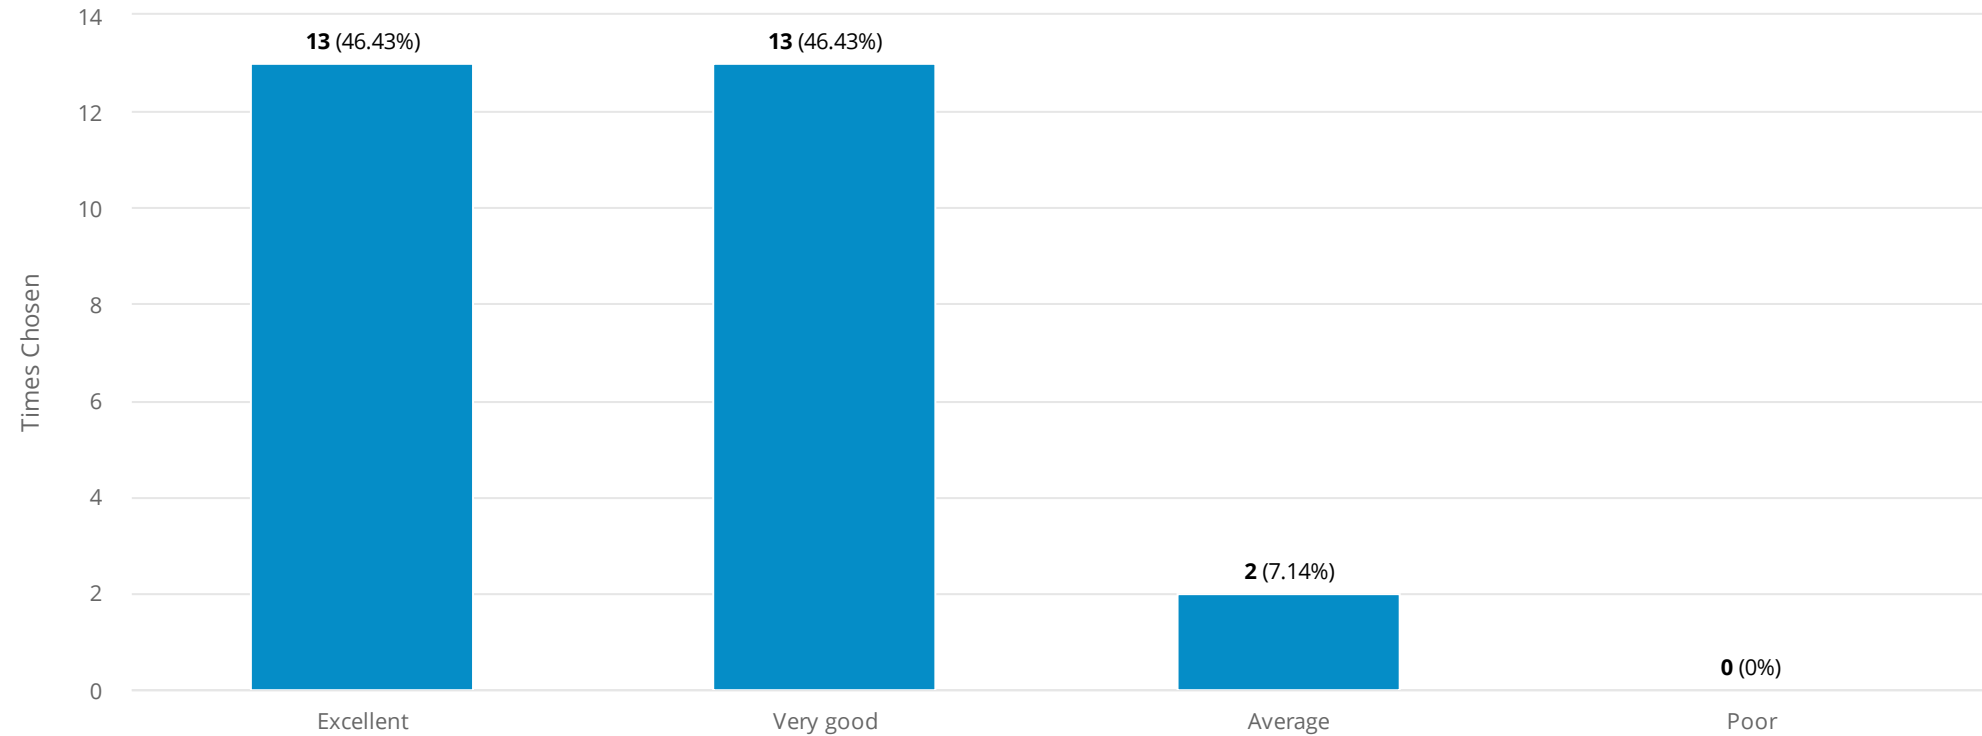

13. During lockdown did the school offer ideas and advice to keep your child fit and healthy at home?

Number of responses: 28

14. On reflection, do you think the school's response to switching to home learning during lockdown was:

Number of responses: 28

15. What would the main difficulties be for you if the school (or a class "bubble") had to return to home learning in the future? (Computer equipment, Work/Life balance etc)

Number of responses: 19

Text answers:

Finding the valence between keeping the home learning going so they don't fall behind while also working from home.

Laptop
Lucky school helped

Internet speed problems sometime as a mum I can't explain as much better as a quality teacher.snd of course home is home cant gve full school environment but try .

Getting his full attention because they at home they just want to play

Not sure

Very hard they don't learn as much at home and don't do it as they told too very stressful to cope with them with learning at home .

Computer equipment balancing enough learning with own daily task/routine

Computers i would be worried for levis mental health and kaeson and sienna was hard too get motivated and didn't really listen to what they needed too do

My ability to get Lucas (reception) to do his work.
No concerns for Sophia (year 5)

balance of keeping a baby happy and being able to help with school work and being able to explain what needed to be done

Work/educating balancing

It would not be difficult. I did find it hard and strange and I don't like teaching but would do it again he improved with his work and writing and maths and his reading I just don't want it to go down now that he is back at school because he kept saying it's easier at school

Nothing at all I prefer home learning because it is more quicker and helpful and due to mrs poynton posting the joe wicks keeps all kids healthy and fit

Having enough equipment for them all and the Internet behaving.

Balance

Child refusing to do it and falling behind

home with children

School for my child is highly needed as he still looks at me as dad so maybe doesn't concentrate the same....

Life balance as I have younger children and am due back to work

16. Is there anything else you would like to suggest about support with home learning which the school might find helpful?

Number of responses: 11

Text answers:

Maybe a more mix of work for day to day. So the children are not doing no writing one day but then lots of writing another day. Try and keep it a even spread over the days.

When it's making things at home ,most of the time we don't have all the things and it's not fair .makes u feel bad for the children missing out

I think in big classes teachers should call students once a week to come to school and tell thm about their full weeks learning this make the children more responsible .thnx

Nothing the school did an excellent job with facilitating my child's every needs and he really enjoyed seeing his teachers and friends on the zoom calls. I have a child in a different school and her school was hopeless compared to this school. by far the best school any child could go to.

No thank all the staff for all your continued hard work and support

not to do the who completed or almost completed all the tasks for that day. You never know what someone is going through or how much they can help there child with there own knowledge. Showing a list of who did complete or almost completed tasks can make children who aren't on it quite upset and it isn't always possible to complete everything and it makes them feel down thanks

Just a bit more sympathy with daily tasks to be completed. Maybe if the work was provided a week in advance (or even a couple of days) I could read through the tasks in the evening before hand so would be quicker to understand and implement with child.

The daily star was great he wanted to get one every-day and he tried so hard every day I don't miss doing it because the stress was bad but I am glad I have done it and I now know what he is good at and I have learned things to and the school was very helpful. We didn't like the no tech days we would rather do the work on line nothing at all the school provides a lot and I am very thankful for the work packs and the online lessons you provide for my child and I couldn't have been more proud of my child THANKYOU to all the the staff

My son being 5 needs school and fun home time as an equal ...seems more and more he does school work and not enough time being 5 to play.....

I would think would be beneficial if we had zoom lessons as this would give child more structured lessons and also one to one help if needed as teachers will be on screen. And as for mothers with little ones time to prepare lunch etc and care for other siblings. As with these online videos my two children did need a lot of my input as I have a child in reception and to keep them occupied and focused I had to monitor them at all times. Which left me very stressed with caring for other siblings .
